A Man-of-war of 1814.

The Impregnable of 1814 was of 2,378 tons, a 98 gun ship by the official rating, though her ten carronades brought her total battery up to 108 guns. She was therefore by no means one of the largest ships; indeed we had ten of greater size and force at sea or in reserve. Her heaviest gun was the old 32-pounder smooth bore, mounted on the oldest truck carriage, without sights or elevating screw. Her broadside was 1,018 pounds. Her total crew was, when she was fully manned, 743—officers, men and boys. The men were raised by impressment or recruited voluntarily for the ship's commission. We had not as yet adopted our present admirable system of manning the fleet. The discipline was arbitrary and cruel; there were merciless floggings with the cut for the smallest offenses, and the number of lashes inflicted varied from a dozen or half dozen to 500 and even 1,000.

Reading the court martials of those days, one alternately wonders how the officers held down the gangs of ruffians they commanded and how the men endured the manifold brutalities of their officers. Brave to a superlative degree as these men were, with that fiery courage which welcomes battle and death, they cannot compare in quality with the officers and men who now take our ships to sea. Everywhere except in the highest ranks, where our captains and admirals are too old, the change has been one wholly for the good. Yet it has not kept pace with the times, and today our sailors are poorly paid and not too well fed.—Nineteenth Century.

Edible "Coffins."

At a very early period the orientals were familiar with a kind of pastry, a mixture of flour, oil and honey, and for centuries pastry making went no further, even among the nations in the south of Europe. But in the beginning of the middle ages a change began to take place in the method of mixing the ingredients, and some other substances were brought into use. Butter, eggs and salt found their way into pastry making, and the result was a manifest improvement. Paste next came to be used as an inclosure for meat, seasoned with spices, etc. Afterward it went a step further, the next use being for the inclosure of creams, fruit, preserves, etc., and later still it began to take the many fanciful shapes in which it has since been commonly found. In the early stages of English cookery the pastry cases were called coffins or "coffyns," and were made in various sizes from "gret coffyns with love ladders" for the "tartes of fiesche" to the "smaller coffyns" for "tartelettes" of "fiesche or fiesche," mixed with "stuff of boyled figges ground and good powder and spices."

Petrarchio in "The Taming of the Shrew," it may here be noted, calls a little cap "a custard coffin." These coffins correspond with the "vol-au-vent" of today.—Gentleman's Magazine.

The Catus of the Adjective.

Everybody nowadays in prose or poetry claps on an adjective to every noun. It degrades the adjective and enervates the noun. Then, too, there is a host of vulgar overdone people introduced into our company, whom we, the old fashioned adjectives, hardly recognize—"strenuous," "intense," "weird," "fiery," "sympathetic," "splendid," "secure," "naive," "impressive," "poignant"—mostly attached, too, to the wrong nouns. There are too many adjectives, and they carry too much sail, like dahlia, "bedecked, ornate and gay." I noticed, as an instance the other way, a criticism in a French review the other day of the academical sea captain who calls himself Pierre Loti, whose style is so defeated (I believe that is the term invented by the Postlethwayte school—that he seldom or never uses an adjective more startling than "good," "bad," "green," "red," "dark," "light," and so on, and yet so orders his sentence that the adjective shines out like a rose on a briar bush.—Longman's Magazine.

Nervousness.

This term was first used by a minister of state who affected to ridicule the warnings of those who were constantly drawing the attention of the two houses of parliament to Russia's steady advance toward India. The term was a happy one in its way, but time ere long proved that the alarmists were correct, and the said minister, so far as I remember, deprecated its being constantly brought up against him.

This word was coined by the Duke of Argyll, who, in a speech in the house of lords, was deriding the well founded apprehensions of those who feared that the Russians would make themselves masters of Merv, in Turkistan. They took it in 1883-4.—Notes and Queries.

Took the Hint.

Minnie—Mr. Billie, if I should consent to be your wife, are you sure you would never object to my dressmaker's bills, never refuse to buy theater tickets when asked, never—in fact, never object to any expenses which I might wish to incur?

Mr. Billie—Darling, I swear it! Minnie—Well, Mr. Billie, if you can't hold on to your money any better than that, I must say, "No."—London Fun.

A Theory.

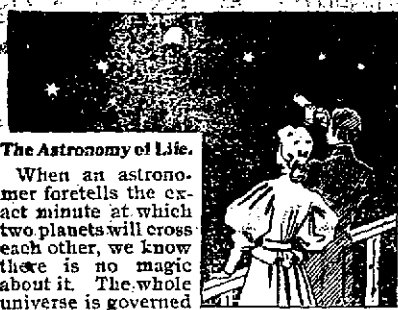

Tommy—Pa, how do storms get out? Tompkins—Get out? What are you driving at—out of what?

Tommy—W'y, the weather bureau, o' course! I didn't know but mobby the man left a drawer open.—Up to Date.

The English of It.

He—You have had a week now to think of my proposal of marriage.

She—Yes, and the more I think of it the less I think of it.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Astronomy of Life.

When an astronomer foretells the exact minute at which two planets will cross each other, we know there is no magic about it. The whole universe is governed by laws. A man who studies these laws of nature carefully and reduces them to a science, can count on exact results every time.

A doctor knows that certain remedies affect certain diseases. When a disease seems to have no remedy, the doctors pronounce it incurable. All the time Nature may have the remedy right at hand, but it will only be discovered by the doctor who has studied longer and deeper than others into this particular disease.

Consumption seemed for a long time without a remedy, until Dr. Pierce made his wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" 15 years ago. It has proved to be a marvelous and almost unfailing specific for consumption and all forms of lung, bronchial and throat difficulties.

Its effects seem almost magical but its operation is based upon simple natural laws. It has the peculiar property of enabling the blood-making glands to manufacture healthy, red blood and pour it abundantly into the circulation. This nourishing, vitalizing effect is rapidly manifested in the lungs and bronchial tubes where it stops the wasting process and builds up healthy tissue.

It readily assimilates by stomachs which are too weak to digest cod liver oil, and it is far superior to malt-extracts as a permanent and scientific flesh-builder in all wasting diseases.

"Twenty-five years ago eight different doctors told me that I would live but a short time, that I had consumption and must die," writes Geo. R. Coope, Esq., of Myers Valley, Pennsylvania, Pa.

"I finally commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and in a short time I was able to get about. I have faith to believe that it has lengthened my life for the last twenty-five years, and I have much faith in all of your medicines that I want one of your 'Common Sense Medical Advertisers.'"

Dr. Pierce's medicines are recognized as standard remedies throughout the world. His "Pleasant Pellets" cure constipation.

The Trans-Mississippi and International Congress is composed of delegates from every State and Territory West of the Mississippi river. The idea of this exposition originated in that Congress at its session at Omaha in 1895, and the project has become a National enterprise and the National Commission has been organized and is in active service, there being one commissioner for each of the several departments of the Government. Most of the Trans-Mississippi States are well along in the way of gathering exhibits from their respective States and many of them have made liberal appropriations, while others are preparing exhibits through private enterprise.

Vice-President H. B. Maxson of Reno, has made arrangements whereby he can get Nevada exhibits, shipped from any point in the State along the line of the C. P. R. R., to Omaha and return, and he requests all persons who wish the interests of the State advanced, to cooperate with the Exposition County Commissioner of his county, whose name is shown above, and prepare some product of his county and send it to the nearest point on the C. P. R. R. from which place it will be sent to Omaha and exhibited, and returned to the same point at the close of the exposition, free of expense to the exhibitor. Full information should accompany everything sent for exhibition. Before sending anything to the line of the railroad a full description should be given to the Exposition Commissioner of the county, who in turn will notify the Vice-President, who will notify him what action to take, otherwise there might be many duplications. Apply to your County Representative for further information, and don't let this opportunity of advertising the resources of Nevada be lost.

Universal stoves, ranges and steel ranges, the cheapest and best. Lange & Schmitt sole agents for ten years over 400 in use in Reno.

The Porteous Decorative Company has just received an immense stock of cheap wall paper in all grades and the very latest patterns.

Prof. Wolf's orchestra contemplates giving a ball on St. Patrick's day at the Pavilion. Special music and other attractions will be features.

A number of houses on the Comstock have been sold to parties in Mason Valley also Reno and the work of tearing them down and removing the lumber is in progress.

The Placer Herald very truly remarks that there will be no war with Spain while President McKinley is under $4,000,000 Spanish bonds to keep the peace.

The motion to dismiss the case against Sheriff Brockliss of Douglas county who was indicted for willful neglect of duty at the time of the Genoa lynching was overruled and his trial set for March 30th.

The death of Colonel M. N. Stone is announced as having occurred at Oakland, California, after a lingering illness. Colonel Stone will be remembered as one of Virginia City's most prominent Attorneys several years ago and is well known in western Nevada.

Fred Morrill is prepared to repair bicycles and furnish extras of all descriptions. His shop is located at E. A. Morrill's harness shop, New Investment Building, Second street. Rambler and Ideal bicycles a specialty. Rambler, 1897 model, $50; 1898 model, $60.

San Francisco merchants are up in arms at the S. P. R. R. Co. At its refusal to give the same low rates as other roads to the Klondike travel from the East. The outfitting business for the Yukon has fallen off fully one-half owing to the low rates via Portland, Seattle and the Canadian Pacific.

A. C. May Deputy United States Revenue Collector for Nevada reports that he sold 500 retail liquor licenses so far this year. The Virginia Report remarks that this furnishes a booze-shop for every twenty voters in the State and states that a distillery would be a better scheme than a beef-sugar factory or a woolen mill.

Mr. S. B. Cohn of Carson, who was appointed by the Carson Improvement Club to interview the railroad company relative to more reasonable freight rates, writes the News that his interview with the General Freight Agent of the company was very satisfactory. He was told that if the people would effect an organization and then detail their products and the probable output, the company would look into the subject and if the showing was satisfactory as a business proposition, the company would meet them half way.

The Palace Dry Goods and Carpet House offers at special sale this week fifty-five dress patterns, consisting of eight yards woolen mixed suitings at the very low price of $1 14 per suit. These mixed suitings are the best and most effective dress goods of that kind on the market to-day. They are in appearance as dressy as more expensive goods and though they are cheap they will make up very serviceable dresses. They will make very serviceable skirts to be worn with shirt waists of which the Palace has the nicest and largest line they have ever carried. Look at their show windows.

A. Nelson is constantly replenishing his stock. Special or clearance sales are not his method. His prices are always at the closest margin on his stock of hats, caps, underwear in various grades, overalls, jumpers, gloves and a general assortment of men's goods. Also a complete line of smokers' articles including a line of cigars and tobaccos, equal to many wholesale houses. In fact he does a general jobbing business in this line and sells to the trade. In the line of novelties, pocket cutlery and many handy and necessary articles, Nelson is hard to beat. Free employment office at his store, Virginia street, Reno.

'AVAILABLE FOR CIRCULATION.'

The Report of the Director of the Mint Not Sustained by Facts.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—With promptness the Director of the Mint keeps on informing the public that all the money in the United States outside of the U. S. Treasury vaults is available for circulation. Why he does not include this latter amount is very mysterious. It surely is as available as the money that is locked up in our State, county and city treasuries, and much more available than the untold millions of paper currency that has been annihilated by the different elements of destruction, but which he keeps on reiterating as still being available for circulation.

Included in his report for available circulation is the well known overestimate of at least $200,000,000 of gold coin. He also includes the money that is hoarded by misers and the enormous amount held by eastern banks subject to the demand of alien bondholders. He also includes the money that is "barrelled" up by the numerous "Uncles" whose victims are obliged to pay from two to twenty per cent per month in order to make any of this "barrelled" money circulate, and which soon returns to the barrel as interest.

Mr. Editor, the people are becoming very suspicious of the twenty-four dollars per capita which is said to be in circulation throughout the United States. They examine their empty purses and wonder who has got their share. A glance at the commercial news in the city papers partially solves the mystery. They read of a glut of money in New York, London and Boston. They see the advertisements of the "Uncles" with their "barrels" of money to loan, but they don't quite understand the whys and wherefores of the money of the United States being congested in a few dark vaults and barrels.

Reno, Nev., March 3, 1898.

STRANGE FATALITY

That Pursues Santa Barbara Official—Mr. Oglesby's Death.

The strange fatality that has pursued the officers of Santa Barbara county during the present term was again demonstrated in the death of District Attorney A. A. Oglesby, which occurred last week in Los Angeles. The funeral took place at Santa Barbara last Saturday morning from the Presbyterian Church, and was largely attended. The pall bearers consisted of the judiciary and other members of the bar of the county.

Mr. Oglesby is the fourth county officer of the present administration who has died in office. The first of this unfortunate quarter of officials to answer the call of his Maker was Sheriff R. J. Broughton, who died shortly after his re-election in 1894. His death was traced to blood poisoning from a wound received in the discharge of his duties. The next whose office was vacated by death was County Clerk Fred Bradley. A few months ago Supervisor E. St. John of Santa Ynez died from the effects of a cold contracted while attending LaFiesta at Los Angeles.

In addition to these changes in the administration, another vacancy was caused by the resignation of Superior Judge W. B. Cope, who is now practicing law in San Francisco, a junior member of one of the oldest firms in the State.

There will be accordingly, when a successor to District Attorney Oglesby shall have been appointed, five county officials who are serving under appointment, three by the board of supervisors and two by the Governor, the latter being Superior Judge W. S. Day and Supervisor Eduardo de la Questa.

A Favorite Attraction

It has been frequently commented upon that some managers year after year take out on the road new but attractive operas and plays while the older and more charming ones are laid upon the shelf. There are many operas and plays that have been thus discarded that still have considerable life and attractiveness, and a number of these are far more attractive than many of the recent accessions. In recognition of the above facts, the Francis Jones company this season revived that most charming of costumed comedies, and one of the most successful of Hoyt's Madison Square theatre (New York) successes "In Old Madrid."

They have not only revived, but re-titled, the play having spent a good deal of money in its staging, costuming and scenic effects. The company, which has been carefully selected, the principals being strong in their respective roles, contains several charming voices and attractive faces and is an unusually fine one.

The above company and attraction which will be seen in all the principal cities between Chicago and the Pacific Coast will appear at McKissicks' Opera House on Wednesday the 9th inst.

The Porteous Decorative Company.

Read the new ad. in to-day's issue of the Porteous Decorative Company. They are now prepared to furnish mixed paints in any quantity for spring painting and decorating also all patterns and grades of wall paper, of the latest style, a large stock of which has just been received and is selling at lower prices than ever known before in this community. Contracts for painting or decorating will be estimated and men or material furnished to do the work. Paints will be furnished to contractors on the best possible terms and prices. Mouldings, frames, window shades, ornaments and in fact everything pertaining to their special line can be found at the store or ordered upon application. If you contemplate any improvements in their line this year consult them.

ORTEOUS DECORATIVE CO.

BREVITIES.

Roast pig and roast turkey for dinner to-day at the Washoe Lunch Counter, besides many other substantial and appetizing dishes.

Oyster soup and an excellent salad will be attractions at Henry Ritter's lunch to-day. Lemps beer, sweet apple cider and all of the latest and fancy drinks will serve as liquid refreshments.

The Washoe Lunch Counter window attracted much attention last evening. A monster turkey weighing twenty-seven pounds dressed, served as a center piece. It will be served at dinner to-day.

Latest dispatches indicate that Spain is pushing every preparation for war with the United States. It is reported that Spain has arranged for a loan from English bankers in the event of war being declared.

Clam chowder and a splendid home made salad, besides a variety of side dishes at Thyes' lunch to-day. Everybody invited. All beverages prepared to order and in the most approved style of the mixer's art.

The Convicts at San Quentin are in trouble. During Friday afternoon a row started among them and knives, shovels and other bludgeons were used with telling effect. Two convicts are suffering from dangerous knife wounds as a result of the scrimmage.

The ferry steamer Piedmont and the coaling steamer Arco came within an ace of colliding in San Francisco bay during a thick fog on Friday. The goodness of Captain J. T. Jones of the Piedmont prevented a disaster and he was heartily cheered by his passengers.

Secretary Gage is credited with saying that if Spanish treachery is responsible for the loss of the Maine and the brave men who went down with her, he would go to war at once. He also added that he would go to war over a birch-bark canoe if the honor of the flag were at stake.

Valdemar Lodge No. 12 (Danish Society) met in regular session last evening. As is usual there was a good attendance and much interest manifested. Grand Representative H. Block was present and gave the members an outline of the work accomplished at the late session of the Grand Lodge at San Francisco.

If an excellent dinner is all that is necessary to complete the self-satisfied feeling that the Sunday has been well and profitably spent, one should go to the Riverside Hotel to-day for that meal. It costs less than to prepare a dinner at home and it saves the wife, mother, sister or house-keeper much labor and worry. Captain Gorse or Geo. W. Cheek will make it pleasant for all patrons and none will regret the visit.

Duck Eggs in an Albumen Factory.

Near Chingkiang, China, is a great albumen factory for the utilization of the duck eggs which are produced in that region in enormous quantities, flocks of 4,000 and 5,000 ducks being by no means uncommon. The eggs are broken at the rate of from 40,000 to 60,000 per day by women, who separate the white from the yolk, the former being carefully cleaned and dried until they resemble fish glue, when they are packed in 400 pound cases lined with zinc. The yolks are passed through sieves into 55 gallon receptacles, mixed with a salt and borax solution, packed in 600 pound barrels and used in Europe for preparing and dressing articles of superior quality. The albumen finds a ready market in England, France and Germany for dyes for the best cotton goods.—Philadelphia Press.

For Appearance's Sake.

She—Give you a latch key? Never! He—But, wifey, just think how the fellows will make fun of me and abuse you.

She (reflecting)—Yes, that's so. Well, you can have this room key, and then you can tell them you took it by mistake for the house key.—Fliegende

Inventory Clearance Sale by S. Emrich.

Finding considerable of an over stock I have concluded before receiving spring goods to make a thorough Clearance Sale and will offer for this purpose a remarkable reduction in prices without exception, of my entire stock. Although all merchandise is generally advanced, I do not find it advisable to carry over any goods, ever so stable, this sale therefore will be quite a saving to the purchaser and I would invite an early call. Her Mother's Spirit.

A young married woman was obliged to remain alone overnight in a St. Louis hotel a few years ago, her husband being detained by business in a neighboring town. In the dead of night the woman was awakened on a sudden sleep by a tremendous noise in the wardrobe. It was such a sudden and frightfully uproar that the woman, sensible and practical though she was, was frightened. The noise ceased, then resumed. The woman jumped up, pulled the gas, looked at her watch and found it was just midnight and made a thorough search both of the wardrobe and the room. There was nothing in the wardrobe as the evidence of the sensation which could account for the racket. The woman put out the light and went back to bed. The noise was not repeated either that night or any other.

Six months afterward, however, the woman was in San Francisco, and for the first time in her life and solely out of curiosity she attended a spiritualistic meeting. Almost immediately the medium, a perfect stranger, turned to her and said, "The spirit of your mother is present, madam, and she says that six months ago (naming the precise date) she tried to communicate with you by means of the wardrobe in the Blauk hotel, St. Louis." The woman's practical good sense did not desert her. "Well, you just tell my mother," she said, "that the next time she wants to communicate with me not to make such an awful racket in the dead of night and frighten me half out of my senses." —New York Sun

Gentility Passing Away.

A frankness that is almost brutal seems to pass current in society for up to date smartness, and the language that is now used by certain fashionable people among themselves is sometimes only a little short of billingsgate, while "swear words" seem to have lost their awfulness and are used almost as freely by women as by men. It is curious how "gentility" both as a word and a quality has disappeared. Fashionable people are distinctly no longer "gentle." They may on occasions be high-bred, but the missing propriety of the belles and beaux of yore has entirely disappeared. In a well known society novel written 15 or 20 years ago, which was a presumably correct delineation of the manners and habits of the fashionable life of that time, two heroines play their role—one a Vere de Vere, with the correct speech and manners of her caste, and the other a suddenly exalted bourgeoisie, who goes through the social fires of criticism and experience before she emerges true gold from the ordeal. Oddly enough today the types must be reversed; it is the bourgeoisie who is "high toned" and the Vere de Vere who is a slangy loafer.
